ALUMNI SPONSOR BASEBALL NIGHT NEXT THURSDAY

Famous Baseball Figures to Participate in Gigantic Rally at Gym

The spirit of the old championship Phoenix baseball team will return to the campus next Thursday evening when the "Baseball Night" rally is held under the supervision of the Alumni Association. The program has as its chairman Louis Guisto '16, and is scheduled to start at 8:30.

William J. Fitzgerald '05, sheriff of San Francisco county, will keep the show moving in his capacity of master of ceremonies, while Guisto will introduce the baseball celebrities.

The list of speakers for the evening is headed by Brother James and also includes "Red" Strader and other speakers from the Alumni and the Saint Mary's Club.

Ace Entertainers

Music for the program will be furnished by Mr. Enrico Introini and his Italian troupe from Crockett, secured for the rally through the efforts of Supervisor Jack Cummings of that city.

Other entertainment features scheduled for the program include Carl Zamloch, magician and card trickster; Ernie Smith, radio announcer, and Johnny Burke who will give some baseball recitations.

President Hy Baggerly of the Pacific Coast League will lead a delegation of baseball celebrities to the celebration. Guests who have accepted the invitation to attend include Charles Graham, president of the San Francisco Baseball Club; Ed Carrigan and Charles Tye, secretaries of the Northern California Baseball Managers Association; Clint Evans, coach of the University of California, and Harry Wolter, baseball coach at Stanford, and many others.

Big Turnout Expected

Invitations have been sent to more than 100 former Saint Mary's players,

Pressmen Make Ready For 1935 Convention

Another campus journalist was added to the list of those who will enter the Press Club next week and the date of the initiation was moved back to Wednesday evening, at yesterday's meeting of the pressmen.

Committees to handle the preliminary details of the forthcoming press convention on the campus were also named at this meeting.

The revised list of those who will be initiated next week now contains Ken Coveney, Carl Schuck, Elias Welch, Skeets Baysinger, Jack Fissori, and Bill Smith.

Baseball Czar

Hy Baggerly, president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, will be a featured speaker Thursday when the College sponsors its initial Baseball Night.

Intramural Awards Given By Ex Council

Reports Made on ASSMC Lecture in S. F.

Upon the recommendation of Commissioner Robert Latuda, the Executive Council, at their meeting last Wednesday, voted awards to thirteen freshmen for winning the intramural baseball league.

Reports on the impending lecture to be given by Brother Leo for the student body were made by President Sherry, to the effect that posters had been placed in the cars of the Market Street Railway Company, and that tickets will be sold from Sherman, Clay & Company starting February 15.

Val Detling, sophomore representative, registered a complaint that telegrams were not being received promptly enough by the students. To remedy this situation, Sherry suggested that a list of calls and telegrams for each day be posted in the post office at 5:30 p. m. Detling was appointed to act on this suggestion.

Debating was injected into the business, when Havelock Hunter brought out that some debaters were arguing the same question several times and that this was unfair to those who have to work on separate questions each time to achieve their debating award. To rectify this matter, a recommendation was sent to Thomas Twomey, debate manager, to apportion the topics in such a way that this would not occur.

College Plans Campaign To Increase Enrollment

The first inkling of the plans that the newly organized committee intend to use to increase the attendance here at Saint Mary's was disclosed today in an interview with Mr. James L. Hagerty, chairman of the committee.

Friends of Catholic education, the alumni and the student body, will be coordinated into a working unit that will induce high school graduates to matriculate here. The alumni have already pledged their wholehearted cooperation and an extensive canvass of the state is suggested, in which prospective students will be visited and interested in Saint Mary's College.

Brother James has been appointed as director of this campaign and plans a personal tour to various high schools around the bay in which he will speak to students about the educational opportunities at the college.

The most valuable means of bringing students to Saint Mary's is its student body itself. So Brother James intends to develop a plan in conjunction with the officers of the Associated Students which will prove extremely feasible to future college students.

A small booklet will also be published and circulated in which college life at Saint Mary's will be completely publicized.

The committee in whose hands this program rests are: Chairman James Hagerty, Brother James, Andrew L. Johnston and Timothy J. Canty.

Gael Sale Campaign Commences At Noon

Book Will Be Sold in Installments as Before

After a hard fight to secure the publication of "The Gael" this year, Phil Brady, editor, announces that the annual is under way. Photography, engraving, and printing contracts have already been signed.

The staff, with the co-operation of the student body, expects to have the book on the campus the early part of May. The theme promises to be most interesting as it is uniquely different in its depiction of the college atmosphere.

Photography will begin Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Schedules will be posted on the bulletin boards regularly. It is asked that all be prompt in securing their pictures, as the procedure will be to move very quickly due to the late start.

Brady asks, at this time, that all in the college co-operate in making suggestions for the book. Any aid in the line of advertising or commercial aids will be greatly appreciated.

In asking for the support of the student body, he said, "We hope that the freshman class as well as the other classes will follow the fine tradition set by the preceeding classes in securing their pictures and book."

Phil Quittman, business manager, has appointed the salesmen for the annual. Installment books are due soon, and active sales will start next week.

Mario Gaione, publicity director, has chosen his committee and will start his advertising campaign in the near future. Brady said that regular staff meetings will be held in the near future, and that further developments will be published in succeeding issues of "The Collegian."

State Teachers To Meet Local Debaters

Government control of the sale and manufacture of armaments will be the proposition to be analyzed in a dual debate between the representatives of San Francisco State Teachers College and the local orators over the weekend.

The first of the meetings will be held on the teachers' campus this afternoon at 3:00 p. m. when the visitors defend the negative case of "Resolved: That the government should own and operate all arms and munitions works." John Rossi and Joseph Leonard are the Saint Mary's speakers.

Same Topic Here

On Monday evening the State team will appear on the local platform in La Salle Hall. The sides are to be reversed on the same question.

Affirmative contentions will be advanced by Everett Nevin and Edward Barry. The names of the opponents were not revealed up to press time.

Monday's debate will be the only forensic encounter, either on or off the campus, scheduled for next week.

However, contests with San Jose State, Newman Hall of the University of California, University of Santa Clara, Utah State, Washington State and California Tech follow immediately.

Gaels to be Represented At Fellowship League

The National Federation of Catholics, Jews and Protestants through its local branch, the Oakland Fellowship, has appointed Noel Sherry, student body president, as the Catholic representative on a junior fellowship division which it is establishing to aid it in its work of breaking down and preventing religious intolerance.

The formal organization of the junior unit will take place on the evening of February 21 at a dinner at the Hotel Claridge. Miss Rachel Hirschberg will be the organizer.

Officers of the national unit are Professor C. J. Hayes, Father John Elliot Ross and Everett McClinchy. The local branch is cared for by Rabbi Stern, Dr. Clarence Riedenbach and Father T. J. O'Connell.

Any Saint Mary's student who wishes to join the new group may do so through Sherry.

Monitor Editor Is Transition Speaker

Mr. F. Gordon O'Neil, editor of the San Francisco Monitor, was this morning's speaker to the senior class in their weekly transition course. Mr. O'Neil is one of the leading Catholic editors of the country and his paper, the "Monitor," is fast becoming the most popular Catholic newspaper in the west.

In his talk Mr. O'Neil pointed out to the seniors that the journalism field, like any other business field of today, is overcrowded, but that there is always plenty of room on a paper's staff for a good journalist. He also stressed the fact that today the Catholic newspaper is becoming more and more popular as they are now dealing not only with religious subjects but also with news of the business and social world.

This fact, he said, should encourage us to read the Catholic papers more often and should also attract more writers to the field of journalism. In closing his talk, Mr. O'Neil expressed the hope that the coming Catholic generation would not only take a great interest in their Catholic papers by subscribing to them and reading them but that they would also do their bit towards contributing articles of interest to them.

Chaplain Returns From Visit to Maryland Home

After a two weeks' trip to Maryland, during which time he attended the golden jubilee of his parents, the Rev. Benjamin Bowling, C.S.P., student chaplain, returned to the campus this week.

Father Bowling revealed that for the anniversary, Archbishop Curley of Baltimore gave special permission for Mass to be said in the home of the chaplain's parents. While en route home, Father Bowling stopped in Los Angeles to speak at the Carmelite Monastery during the profession of vows.

NBC Inaugurates College Aircasts

Don Thompson To Handle Round-Robin Series

Intercollegiate debating will go on the air again this season in a round-robin series similar to the one conducted last year.

Tentative arrangements for the renewal of the program were made Saturday at the National Broadcasting Company headquarters in San Francisco. Don Thompson, well-known NBC announcer, presided at the gathering.

The broadcasts will extend over a period of ten weeks beginning February 23. KGO is to release the air-debate on Saturday afternoons, but the exact hour has not yet been designated.

Reach Larger Audience

In using the National Broadcasting Company's facilities, a potentially vast audience can be reached by the college orators. This was the main handicap experienced last year.

Another alteration for the broadcasts will be the use of the Oregon plan of debating rather than the conventional, constructive and rebuttal type. It is expected that the interview-like system will add value to the discussions.

Representatives of the five major collegiate institutions in this area were present. The University of California was represented by Mr. Sanford Goldner, Stanford University by Leland Chapin, and Robert Gros, University of San Francisco by H. Malcolm Macdonald, University of Santa Clara by Reverend E. R. Boland, S.J., and Saint Mary's by Mr. Robert J. McAndrews and Thomas Twomey.

YEARLINGS TO GIVE ANNUAL THANK YOU DANSANT TONIGHT

Jay Jacobsen's Orchestra Is Chosen for Event in the Oakland Hotel

Like a flittering debutante entertaining at a formal dress ball amid a galaxy of world celebrities, the baby class of Moraga tonight will entertain collegians and their friends at the Ivory Court of the Hotel Oakland.

Plans to make this "Thank You" dance equal the Hi Jinx given last year by the freshmen have been in progress for a fortnight and now with everything in readiness, the class of '38 is quietly awaiting the hour of its social debut. Possibly before the evening has ended, another class will be added to the long list of Saint Mary's classes who have been distinguished as successful entertainers.

Jacobsen Orchestra

Jay Jacobsen and his orchestra, popular throughout the East Bay, will furnish the music for the evening, contrary to the erroneous statement given to a Collegian reporter last week that the Salesian Boy's orchestra was going to play.

This "Thank You" dance is sponsored by the first year men in return to the sophomores, who gave them a rousing reception last September at the Hotel Oakland in the annual Welcome Dance. By special request of the dance committee, the hotel management will decorate the Ivory Court with the red and blue of Saint Mary's to give the proper atmosphere to the dance.

Commenting on the dance, Joseph Alioto, president of the sophomore class, said: "The freshmen must be lauded for their efficiency and tact in arranging and preparing for this 'Thank You' dance. The dance is in the hands of an able committee and judging from the preliminary arrangements already made, this dance should be one of the best of the year. I can assure the freshmen that the sophomore class will be well represented!"

Because there has been a long inter-

Honor Fraternity To Give Spring Concert

Members of the APGU will meet next Tuesday noon to make arrangements for their annual spring concert, according to Dictator Thomas Twomey.

The organization has secured Brother Leo's tentative consent to speak for it in the lounge as its last presentation of the scholastic year.

American Collegian Who's Who Will Appear in April

BERKELEY, Feb. 7.—Endorsed by the presidents of over 200 student bodies of American colleges, "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" is at present being compiled by H. Pettus Randall and Alden W. Smith '35, A.S.U.C. president.

Randall, who is a former president of the student body of the University of Alabama, is editing the book, which will be an annual affair, while Smith will be the only co-editor.

Prints Careers

The plan of the book is to annually publish the biographies of the outstanding students of America, so that deserving students will be brought before the business world.

With the purposes in mind of serving as an incentive for students to get the most out of their college careers, as a means of compensation to students for what they have already done and as a recommendation to the business and social worlds, the book will be open only to juniors, seniors and students in advanced work.

Seventeen students will be selected from the University of California here, according to Smith, as only one per cent of the student body of smaller institutions will be accepted, and from the larger colleges, even smaller numbers.

Few Selected

"The success and value of the book depend upon the narrowness of selection," Smith continues, "and in this way only the cream of the universities will be chosen."

Students will be judged upon character; scholarship; leadership in high standard of politics, athletics and other forms of extra-curricular activities; and possibility of future usefulness to business and society.

The book is an innovation, as nothing of its kind has ever been attempted before. The book will be published by the latter part of April.

Jap Policy In Manchukuo Is Dangerous To Asian Whites

Japan's policy in Manchucko is a dangerous threat to world peace, believes the Rev. John J. Turco, U.J.D., professor of Italian and Political Science, who claims that Japan will ultimately drive all the whites from Asia.

"Japan retorts to objections with a reference to the Monroe policy of the United States," declared Father Turco. "Their motto is 'Asia for the Asiatic.'"

Fr. John Turco

How soon Japan's policy may cause a serious war cannot be seen. It is extremely difficult to be a prophet in politics, the professor said, because of the many adverse and changing facts which constantly enter the scene.

By means of cheap labor, plus mass production, Japan is able to produce great surpluses and then to dump these goods on the world market, forcing prices down generally.

When she creates a "zone of influence" over Asia, she will have a market for her goods, but only at the expense of the other nations.

"Japan is clever in advancing slowly. First she left the League of Nations, and then recently she renounced the Washington Naval Treaty, and is consequently unimpeded in her plans," asserted Father Turco.

"Japan," he continued, "is in the hands of a few militarists and as long as these men control the government there will be no relaxing in her policy toward her puppet state, Manchuckuo."

The United States must protect her interests in Asia, the professor warned, if Japan continues unabated.

"The United States should act in harmony with the European powers who are also interested in Asia. That would include England, France, Italy and Holland in particular."

This would be the only way in which Japan can be stopped. And this will be successful only if it is done in time. Should action be deferred until too late, it would be practically impossible to even expect Japan to stop, without war resulting.

Local Five Out to Even Up Bronco Cage Series Tomorrow

By LOWELL ARATA

Beat the Broncos!

That's the battle cry of Vince McNally's sharpshooters as they prepare for the next bugbear of former years, the Santa Clara Broncos, whom they meet tomorrow night on the maples of Exposition Auditorium in San Francisco at 8:00 p. m.

Victory tomorrow night is indispensable if the Gaels are to continue their man-sized project of taking the basketball series from the three non-conquerable (for Saint Mary's) giants of previous years, California, Santa Clara and USF, since the Broncos already hold one victory over the local varsity.

Gaels Are Ready

Since that 43 to 39 lacing at the hands of the Missionites, the Moragans have definitely shaken the stranglehold of Joe Slump, and with California already taken to the cleaners, they are primed to meet the speedy and clever passing men of Harlan Dykes.

Santa Clara, too, has experienced a period in the clutches of Joe Slump, during which they suffered a humiliating drubbing from the Bears and a decisive setback at the hands of the Stanford Cards. However, the Broncos snapped out of their slump with a bang Tuesday night and pulled one of the biggest upsets of the current season when they came from far behind and nosed out the powerful Olympic Club five, 48 to 46.

New Bronco Star

Coach Dykes will probably start the five men who have played the greater part of all the games this season. "Hook" Eckman and Bob Ethen at the forward posts, Ronnie Goodel at center, and Captain Jack Otten and Charlie Bannon at the guard positions. The sensational sophomore player of the Broncos, Nick Radunich, who tallied five buckets in six minutes against the Olympic Club, is certain to get in early.

Tuesday night will find the home guard again in San Francisco, this time bent on wresting the series from Coach Wally Cameron's USF Dons, a team over whom they already hold an impressive 32 to 26 decision.

Having ended the seven-year famine, during which Saint Mary's registered nary a victory over the Hilltoppers, the Gaels are eager for a second "kill." However, the Dons will be out for revenge Tuesday night, and led by their star and captain, Joe Murphy, will be a tough hurdle for the varsity.

Don Lineup

Cameron will start his strongest five composed of Joe Patton and Ed Lewis, forwards; Murphy, center, and Phil Garcia and Kirk Armstead, guards.

Vince McNally will start Meade, Olson, Nelson, Hanna and Raffanti.

El Lang's rampaging Freshmen five will be out for their second wins over the Bronco and Don babes in the preliminary tilts to the varsity contests tomorrow night and Tuesday.

Varsity Spurts To Down Athens, 38-33

In a rather rough game marked by ragged basketball on the part of both teams, the Saint Mary's cagers won over the Athens Club of Oakland Wednesday night by a score of 38-33.

Bud Hanna scored first for Saint Mary's, and during the entire first half the Gaels were never headed. In spite of their poor passing and shooting, the Moragans held a 16-11 lead at the rest period. However, this was greatly due to the fine shooting of Billy Meade, tricky Gael forward, who accounted for ten of the points.

Athens Threatens

From the opening of the second half, the Athens Club started a strong comeback and with Pinson, Hansen and Theiss hitting the basket for steady points, came up close to the Gaels. With only seven minutes left in the game, the Athenians had tied the score at 26-26.

Both teams fought hard during these fleeting last minutes, and with only four minutes left, the clubmen were holding a one point lead at 33-32. But this was short-lived for Don Raffanti, Paul Barnes and Bill Meade sunk three quick field goals to give the Gaels their final 38-33 margin.

Meade was high point man for the victorious Moragans with sixteen digits, while Hansen led the Athens Club with eight markers. Saint Mary's made ten of fourteen free-throws.

Varsity, Frosh Nines Battle to 3-3 Deadlock

With the full strength of both squads demonstrating their wares, the rejuvenated Gael varsity battled the freshmen nine to a 3-3 tie here Wednesday afternoon after six innings of closely contested ball.

The Phoenix gets its first taste of outside competition tomorrow afternoon when the S. F. State Teachers' nine journeys to the local campus.

GAELS BEAT BEARS IN OVERTIME, 51-48; BREAK SERIES JINX

Giannoni, Meads Star as the Moragans Win First Series in History

By BUCKY HARRIS

In the wildest and most bitterly fought contest ever witnessed in the new men's gymnasium at California, the Gael basketball team downed the Golden Bears 51 to 48 last Saturday night. The contest was not decided until a five-minute overtime period had been played, during which time Giannoni and Nelson came through with the winning digits in the final 15 seconds of play.

This game marked the first time that Saint Mary's had ever defeated their Berkeley rivals in a three-game series. In the initial encounter of the series the Moragans trounced California by a score of 48 to 39; this contest also going beyond the regulation time. Saint Mary's went wild in the extra period to score eleven points before the Bears tallied. The second contest went to California, when Jack Kopke scored 20 points to prove too much for the Saints. The score was 42 to 34. Saturday's debacle was the rubber game, and even exceeded the first tussle from the standpoint of excitement.

Bears Lead at Half

The fireworks commenced with California piling up a commanding lead of 11 to 4 in the first ten minutes of play, with only two sensational baskets by Bud Hanna keeping the Moraga contingent in the running. The Bears displayed perfect teamwork at this stage of the game with the feature being provided by fast-breaking passes to Meek under the basket. Kopke also began peppering the basket with seemingly impossible shots and by the intermission California was leading 25 to 16.

In the second half the Gaels found themselves. Captain Billy Meade looped two long baskets to narrow the gap to five points while their rivals had not yet scored.

Kopke came through again to bring courage to the California side, but the Saints were not to be denied. Barnes dropped a long one through the hoop and Giannoni dribbled through the Bear defense twice to bring his teammates to within one point of California, 27 to 26.

All Fours

Richie Hay added a free throw to put California two points in the lead. A long shot from near mid-court by Meade followed by a free throw gave the Gaels the advantage for the first time in the contest 29 to 28.

The lead changed hands several times in the waning moments with Kopke keeping the Berkeley boys in the game with shots from all over the court. With five minutes to go, Saint Mary's was holding desperately on to

Yearlings Meet Colts Tomorrow

The yearling cagers of Saint Mary's will endeavor to cinch a series in each of their next two games, which will be played against Santa Clara's frosh and the first year men from the University of San Francisco tomorrow night and Tuesday night respectively. Both tilts will be played across the bay, as preliminaries to the Bronco-Gael and Don-Gael games.

At 6:45 tomorrow night Coach El Lang's men will sail into the Colts of Santa Clara and try to emerge with a win as they did in their last tussle a few weeks ago. It will be remembered that, although the Gaelets were leading at the half by a score of 13 to 7, they did not have such an easy time of the going during the remaining minutes of the play. It was not until the Moragans sank two field goals to break a tie, that the game was declared ended by mutual consent of both coaches. The final score was 19-15.

In their first tilt the fighting Don Babes went down under the onslaught of the Gael yearlings, but Tuesday they will try to even up the score. Although the last match between the two schools ended in a 32 to 26 score, the USF Frosh threatened severely toward the middle of the last half. Coming from behind, they crept up on the Gaels until they had a one point advantage. However, the Saints put the game on ice with a quick and furious rally.

Seniors Score Close Win Over Sophs, 26-25

In the hardest and closest fought intramural basketball game this season, the Seniors scored a 26 to 25 surprise victory over the sophomore team Wednesday night in Madigan gymnasium. Throughout the entire conflict the two teams were nip and tuck. Both teams displayed a brilliant offense and tightly woven defense. Most of the points were sunk from the center or the corners of the court.

Tom Paddock, the sharp shooting forward for the sophomore team, was high point man for the evening when he scored the grand total of 12 points. McCullagh and Harris, forward and center for the Seniors, carried off second honors with the total of 10 points to their credit.

Box score:

Another high school romance blossoms forth Sunday when Sid Ahern, the 1933 star quarterback, and Miss Margaret Keaton, answer "I do" in beautiful Saint Rafael Church, San Rafael. The young couple met in high school and have been keeping company ever since.

No immediate plans have been made, but it is expected that the future Mr. and Mrs. Sid Ahern's will take up residence in San Rafael, the present residence of both. Gordon Partee, Ahern's college roommate and likewise a member of the 1933 varsity, will serve as bestman at the ceremonies.

Both Partee and Ahern were members of the 1934 Olympic Club eleven and met with great success. The former was also a member of the All-Stars who journeyed to the islands some weeks ago.

Hoop Stars Talk at Piedmont Hi Rally

The rise of the 1935 Gael basketeers has done much to make the public conscious of the casaba sport at Saint Mary's. Yesterday morning Captain Billy Meade and Bud Hanna, varsity hoop stars, were guest speakers at Piedmont High School.

The players spoke at a student body rally and were cordially received. They stressed the importance of condition in athletics and revealed several "tricks of the trade."

GAEL GLANCES

By Martin Hill

Even college sports editors like to get fan mail once in a while. It seemed like one of those instances was about to occur the other day when an unfamiliar envelope was handed to us through the postoffice window.

A Santa Clara postmark naturally caused us to become skeptical of the contents. The letter was unsigned but the mystery of the source will probably go unsolved since the campus sleuth, "Krow" (not a radio station), tells us he is working on too many cases already.

Anyway, the letter furnishes an easy way to cover a bit of space in this column. So here goes:

Dear Sports Editor:

I am writing this letter because there is the slight possibility that you might be under a mis-apprehension concerning the basketball game this Saturday night between Santa Clara and Saint Mary's. It would indeed be a pity if your paper went ahead and boasted about how good the Galloping Gaels are on the court this season, and then have the Broncos mop up the floor with 'em.

The Gaels may have won a few games this year but after seeing the Broncos whip them once, I don't see how you can figure a win for McNally's team. In their last game the Broncos had a fourteen point lead, then just fooled around. Otherwise the game would not have been as close as it turned out to be.

Saint Mary's only knows the man for man style of defense. That's duck soup for Dykes. It makes him laugh at the thought of this coming game. He realizes the Gaels can't adequately stop his offensive charges. In other words, you'll make no mistake by telling your readers the series will be all over Saturday night. And what a squelching the Gael will take.

Just a sympathetic friend.

Not content with being the iron man of the football team, big Herm Meister is using his athletic prowess in all fields these days. When not playing basketball, Herm is working out with the tennis aspirants. And as soon as the plunge is filled, Herm will be practicing water polo and swim sprints. Meister maintains there is nothing like keeping in shape.

FROM THE NOTEBOOK . . . Frosh and Varsity played six innings to a three to three tie Wednesday . . . yearling sluggers were just whiffers against Lefty Flannagan . . . and Lefty cracked out a neat single . . . Magrini really got a bingle too . . . but the Varsity is going to have a tough time building up a hitting department . . . Bud Hanna, now busy with basketball, was the only Phoenix member last season to hit over 300 in the conference games . . . 324 was his mark . . . when the cage season is over, Olson, Irwin, Nelson and Raffanti will also fight for positions . . . Manager Lippi was unable to accommodate his baseball players . . . he could not locate the glove stretcher anywhere . . . nor could he find a left-handed bat . . . but he was relieved in this latter instance when the player said he'd try to bat right-handed . . . When not behind the plate, Gabby Owens keeps his arm warm by placing it in the bat bag . . . which, incidentally, was rather saturated . . . Red Minogue and his crew sure did a swell job on the diamond . . . never has it been in better shape . . . Many errors prevalent by both F&V infielders . . . we hope it's because of early season reasons . . . and those new gloves aren't broken in yet . . . within the next week the Gael cagers will be sporting new uniforms . . . of satine . . . and on to Reno Thursday night for a two game stand with the University of Nevada on Friday and Saturday . . . El Lang's Frosh cagers saw to it that the Cal Babes lost to the locals for the fourth consecutive year . . . The Daily Californian failed to run a story of the Bear Varsity defeat last Saturday . . . "just couldn't take it" . . . and don't forget tomorrow night . . . Broncos and Gaels tangle at S. F's Civic Autitorium.

Racquet Men Practice Under New Head Coach

Under the guidance of Coach Lloyd Budge, the Saint Mary's tennis team held its first practice of the season Monday on the campus courts.

Budge had the candidates working on fundamentals, giving individual instruction on forehand, backhand and overhead strokes.

Manager Maurice O'Connor is negotiating with both the University of San Francisco and the San Francisco State Teachers College for a favorable date on which the varsity netmen will open the 1935 campaign.

Gaelets Win Over Bear Frosh Five

Shock Leads Langmen With Nineteen Points; Jenkins Fails to Score in Battle

A stirring prelude in itself to the sensational varsity contest later in the evening, the freshman tilt between El Lang's first year troupe and the University of California yearlings saw the former win out in the last minute by a 30-28 score at Harmon gym Saturday night.

Meeting the Golden Bear Cubs for the first time this season and after the latter had been forcefully defeated by the brilliant Stanford Frosh five on the night before, the Moragans found themselves on the short end of a 19-17 score—the first time in fourteen games they had been behind at the half time signal.

Shock Soars

Frank Shock, Illinois three-sport man, garnered nineteen points for the local cause, eleven of which were in the latter half and practically cemented the game. Shock scored all the points for the Gaelets in the second canto except for a goal by McSweeny, guard. Tied at twenty-eight all with but a minute remaining, Shock brought the squad's winning streak up to fourteen with a long field goal.

McCorney, a small forward, gathered seven for Berkeley, while a tall center, Carlisle, led the Blue and Gold cause with eight markers. Both teams were obviously nervous, but the Californians ranked because of the decisive trouncing of the night before were the more determined and almost convinced the favored Moraga squad that they were the fair-haired boys.

Vince McNally

INTERVIEWED ON KLX

"If Saint Mary's keeps on their toes against Santa Clara this week-end, we have more than an even chance of beating Harlan Dyke's team. I say this in view of the splendid showing that the team made against California last Saturday night."

VINCE McNALLY

With that optimistic statement as the keynote for his radio speech on KLX, head basketball coach Vincent McNally last night gave his views on the elimination of the center jump, his team's 1935 showing and the Pacific Coast basketball situation in general.

Height Brings Success

"Saint Mary's has gone to the top this year because we have good replacements, sharpshooting men like Giannoni, Nelson and their fine teammates, but mainly because of height, a factor sadly lacking in years past."

McNally attributed his loss in the second game of the California series to the wrong mental attitude which his team had assumed after their first victory, and was high in praise of the elimination of the center jump.

"It prevents tangle-ups at the tip-off, helps short forwards, and all in all it has speeded up the game considerably," answered the mentor when questioned by Doug Montell, sports interviewer.

Meade One of Best

Vince named Billy Meade as one of the "finest players I've ever coached," and admitted in the same breath that Saturday night he will be afraid of "Long John" Otten, Bronco center, and "Hook" Eckman, who ran up eighteen markers from his forward position for Dykes in the first meeting of the two teams several weeks ago.

Moragans Win in Extra Period From Pricemen

a 42 to 39 lead. However, successive baskets by Kopke, including a free throw, while the Saints scored only once through the efforts of Monte Olson, tied up the ball game at the sound of the gun, 44 to 44.

With the gymnasium a veritable madhouse of frenzied spectators, Saint Mary's started the extra period of play with hole shots by Nelson and Giannoni. Not even this lead was safe, for Olson of California tallied and Kopke continued to get in the hair of the Gaels by tossing another through the hoop to knot the count at 48 to 48.

Bears Bow

With 15 seconds of play remaining, Giannoni of the visiting Moragans was fouled in the act of shooting. Here was the most dramatic moment of the game. Pandemonium reigned as the highly partisan California crowd shouted at the top of their lungs in an attempt to rattle the shooter. Even a warning from Referee DeGroot failed to calm the tumult. Missing the first throw, Giannoni calmly put his second shot through the netting. Nelson made sure of victory with another hole shot at the crack of the gun to give the spirited Gaels the most delicious victory of the current season.

It was just a case of Saint Mary's refusing to be beaten. Through sheer courage and fight they overcame the physical advantage of height and weight enjoyed by California. For the Gaels, Giannoni, Meade and Nelson were outstanding. Kopke of California stood out like a lighthouse and his 18 points testified to his shooting ability.

ALUMNI NOTES

ALUMNI HERE AND THERE

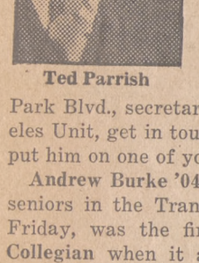

Rev. Gerald Clark, O.P. '19, formerly stationed at the Dominican Church in Seattle, Washington, is now at the Dominican House of Studies in Oakland . . . Rev. Dean Dooley '21, is prior of the House of Studies while the Rev. J. J. Walsh '19, is also a member of the faculty . . . Louis Figeac '32, of San Francisco is now stationed at Sacramento with the Agricultural Adjustment Bureau. He is residing at the Ramona Hotel, Sacramento, and is anxious to meet alumni in Sacramento and vicinity.

Jean Joyaux '34, president of San Luis Unit, is editor of a weekly newspaper in San Luis Obispo . . . William Hobin '32, is active in the affairs of the Stockton Real Estate Board. Bill is a former student body prexy . . . Speaking of former student body prexies, a note just came from Dave Hinch, who finished College at Christmas, that Jack Tolan '33, has written him a couple of letters recently from Washington. Tolan, a former student body prexy, has had several Saint Mary's reunions in the national capital with two other former student body prexies: Leonard Thomas '30, and Jack Metz '34, along with Dan O'Connor ex-'36.

Jack Tolan

B. T. "Ted" Parrish '34, formerly of Oakland, just wrote that the wants The Collegian and all other communications sent to him at his new address, 3455 Mission Road, Los Angeles. Incidentally "Ted" is anxious to become active in the affairs of Los Angeles unit, so Claude "Whitey" Christopher '24, of 2912½ Griffith Park Blvd., secretary of the Los Angeles Unit, get in touch with "Ted" and put him on one of your committees . . .

Ted Parrish

Andrew Burke '04, who spoke to the seniors in the Transition Course last Friday, was the first editor of The Collegian when it appeared in 1903. Incidentally, Andy is one of Saint Mary's best all-around supporters and advisers. He invited any prospective law student who wanted information on the law, to call on him at his offices in the Hobart Building, San Francisco . . .

Peter Tehaney '31, is now with the Oakland "Post-Enquirer" in an editorial capacity . . . Harold Lehman '29, is on the sports staff of the "San Francisco News" . . . The recitations which John "Johnny" Burke '09, will give at the "Baseball Rally" are of his own composition. Johnny is quite a poet and a writer. He is chief food inspector with the San Francisco Board of Health . . . Albert Markham '32, has recently moved from Montague in the northern part of the state, to Oakland.

NEW STUDENT DRIVE PLAN OF ALUMNI BOARD

To secure a greater enrollment for the college next fall and to take all possible steps to secure this increased enrollment was the action taken at the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Alumni Association held at the Pompei Grill, 161 Sutter street, San Francisco, on last Monday evening. Leo A. Cunningham '18, presided at the meeting.

The board also urged the support of the Moraga Quarterly by the Alumni to the extent that 200 greatly-needed subscriptions would be secure.

President Cunningham appointed C. Wesley Davis '28, as chairman of the committee on new students. This committee is to cooperate with the new student committee recently appointed by the college board of trustees. Other members of the alumni committee are: Dr. Fred West '14, J. Justin Kegler '28, Leo Cunningham '18, J. Philip Murphy '29, Joseph Stretch '30, Justin Mahoney '18, Fred Wolff '12, and J. Giles Miller '18.

ALUMNI CONVENTION IN CHICAGO

The annual convention of the National Catholic Alumni Federation will be held at Palmer House, Chicago, on April 25-27, according to an announcement made recently by the Middle West Regional group of the Federation.

The Rev. Edward Mullalley '99, of Saint Mary's Church, Chicago, has been appointed to represent Saint Mary's alumni at the meeting and on the committee for preliminary arrangements.

Mrs. John Stolz, mother of Peter Stolz '13, died at Saint Mary's Hospital, San Francisco, on last Sunday, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Stolz was a resident of Salinas and the funeral took place there on Wednesday morning with a requiem Mass at Sacred Heart Church. To the family of Mrs. Stolz, the college and the alumni extend heartfelt sympathy.

HOMECOMING DAY PLANS TO BE MADE AT MEETING

The first meeting of the Homecoming Day committee for 1935 will be held Monday evening at 5:00 o'clock, in the office of Sheriff William J. "Dick" Fitzgerald '05, in the San Francisco City Hall, with Chairman Joseph Stretch '30, presiding.

According to Chairman Stretch, Homecoming Day originally scheduled for March 10, may be postponed until later in March, thus providing a greater possibility of good weather for the day and also giving the committee a greater opportunity to work up a large attendance.

Aiding Chairman Stretch on the Homecoming committee are: William J. Fitzgerald '05, vice-chairman; Walter Jones '01, Dr. Frank Derham '10, E. H. Moore '10, J. Justin Kegler '28, John Mullany '29, Thomas Cara '33, and Arthur D'Arco '34.

Suggestions on the Homecoming Day program may be made to Stretch at Cosgrove & Co., 343 Sansome street, San Francisco, phone EXbrook 1928.

SPECIAL TRAIN "BASEBALL NIGHT"

In order to accommodate those who wish to attend the "Baseball Night" program at the college on next Thursday evening, a special Sacramento Northern train will be run. The boat will leave the Ferry Building at 7:20 and will connect with the train that will leave Fortieth and Shafter, Oakland, at 7:50, returning after the rally. Price for the round trip are, San Francisco, 75c; Oakland, 50c.

Civil Service Post Open to Journalist

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows:

Pharmacologist, various grades, $2,600 to $5,600 a year, Food and Drug Administration

Assistant microanalyst, $2,600 a year, junior microanalyst, $2,000 a year, Food and Drug Administration.

Principal editorial clerk, $2,300 a year, editorial clerk, $1,800 a year, departmental service, Washington, D. C.

Apprentice fish-culturist, $1,000 a year, Bureau of Fisheries.

Foreman of ink-making plant, $3,200 a year, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

The salaries named are subject to a deduction of not to exceed 5 per cent during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, as a measure of economy, and also to a deduction of 3½ per cent toward a retirement annuity.

All states except Vermont, Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia have received less than their quota of appointments in the apportioned departmental service in Washington, D. C. The positions of apprentice fish-culturist and foreman of ink-making plant are not affected by the state apportionment law.

NBC DEBATES

The following schedule was drawn up by the group:

Feb. 23—Saint Mary's vs. Santa Clara.
Mar. 2—California vs. San Francisco.
Mar. 9—Stanford vs. Saint Mary's.
Mar. 16—Santa Clara vs. California.
Mar. 23—San Francisco vs. Stanford.
Mar. 30—Saint Mary's vs. California.
Apr. 6—San Francisco vs. Santa Clara.
Apr. 13—Stanford vs. California.
Apr. 20—Saint Mary's vs. San Francisco.
Apr. 27—Santa Clara vs. Stanford.

The entire plan was promoted by the local forensic department. Initial negotiations were instituted by Thomas Twomey, debate manager, during the Christmas vacation. He was aided by Mr. H. J. Maxwell of NBC and by Mr. Edward Wachter, a member of the Saint Mary's Club.

Arrangements for an important intersectional debate between Saint Mary's and a mid-western opponent over a national hook-up are now being completed,

200,000 Years Spent In Building Exhibits

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 7.—Two hundred thousand years ago exhibits were being fabricated for America's Exposition—1935.

They are original stone implements made by men of the Cro-Magnon, Neanderthal, Piltdown and Neolithic ages, and they have been acquired from the Field Museum of Chicago as part of the permanent exhibit of the Palace of Science at the California Pacific International Exposition, according to Malcolm Rogers, director.

Old S.F. Directly Reveals Original Plans for College

The following item concerning the founding of Saint Mary's College was found in the San Francisco Directory of the year 1861, compiled by Henry G. Langley:

SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE

This institution is intended to accommodate from one thousand to twelve hundred pupils, and is especially intended to afford facilities for education to male children in various portions of the state, deprived of any local opportunities of instructions, though, of course, it will not be confined to them.

The only charge for a complete course of studies, embracing a classical course to fit the student for the university, board, lodging, washing, etc., will be one hundred and fifty dollars per annum. It is anticipated that the large attendance will make the institution self-sustaining, even at this low rate. Twenty-five thousand dollars has already been collected for the erection of buildings, and the plans have been adopted and the contracts made for their construction.

The site originally contemplated for the college was a block of six fifty-vara lots, bounded by Larkin, Grove, Hayes and Polk streets, but it has been decided that this is a plot altogether too limited for the extensive plans contemplated, and Archbishop Alemany has allotted to the purpose a tract of sixty acres, originally intended for a cemetery, situated near the south line of the county, on the old San Jose road, and within six blocks of the line of the San Jose railroad.

The work will be commenced as early in the spring as possible. It has been retarded for the want of brick, but this difficulty surmounted, it will be pushed to completion with great rapidity and it is hoped will be in successful operation within eighteen months from this time (August, 1861).—Courtesy Maurice O'Connor.

Newman Mothers to Hear Brother Claudius

The romantic lore of the American Southwest is to be the main topic of Brother Claudius, campus lecturer, in his bi-weekly discussion before the Newman Mothers Club at Newman Hall in Berkeley, on Thursday, February 14.

In his lecture Brother Claudius is to outline a theoretical journey through the Indian country from Santa Fe, New Mexico, to Acoma, in the heart of the present Laguna Indian Reservation, giving sidelights upon the lives and customs of the Indians and of the missionaries who worked among them.

His talk will be the third in a series of ten dealing with the life of Archbishop Lamy, bishop of the Indian Territory from 1851 to 1883, whose biography, "Death Comes to the Archbishop," provides the theme for the lectures.

Freshman Debaters to Make First Appearance

After a semester of intramural training, the freshmen debaters are prepared to enter the field of intercollegiate competition according to Mr. Robert J. McAndrews, debate coach. Bay area frosh and high school groups have been contacted and a schedule of meetings is nearly completed.

Tilts with the University of California and Stanford University have been set. The Berkeley representatives will appear here on February 18, while a local squad travels to the peninsula university on February 21.

"Resolved: That Japan's policy in China should be approved" is the topic for both meetings. Return engagements are listed to be held later in the semester.

Other teams included on the frosh program include the University of San Francisco, University of Santa Clara, College of Pacific, Oakland High School and Santa Rosa High School.

Saint Mary's Club

Under the direction of members W. W. Blood, Thomas F. Allen and Richard D. Blake, the Saint Mary's Club is sponsoring a whist party in Cotillion Hall in San Francisco, on Friday evening, February 22.

This is the first public social event of the club this season. Proceeds of the game will go to the baseball uniform fund.

Score cards are fifty cents and the first prize will be one hundred dollars. Those in the club should support this game and also let other card players know of the coming event.

Jinks Date Set

The annual smoker and jinks has been definitely set for Wednesday evening, February 27. It will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 150 Golden Gate Avenue in San Francisco.

After last week's enthusiastic meeting the members of the club spread to all parts of the peninsula and bay cities in an effort to make this year's jinks bigger and better than ever.

Anyone who attended last year's affair knows of the club's ability to put on an evening of worth-while entertainment.

Full details will be arranged at this week's meeting of the committeemen and the directors. A summary of the proceedings will appear in this column of The Collegian next edition.

At present there are those who are working to help the club secure funds to purchase uniforms for the freshman baseball team. Ticket returns should be sent as soon as possible to Louis McGettigan or treasurer Charles Barry.

Brother Conrad Fetes Silver Jubilee in 1935

This year marks the Silver Jubilee of Brother Conrad, principal of Cathedral High School in Los Angeles, as a member of the Christian Brothers.

Brother Conrad was born in San Francisco, received his primary education there, and obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree here. During the time spent in the classroom Brother Conrad has taught in every Brothers' school on the coast.

ECON HONOR GROUP VISITS TRANSBAY FINANCIAL CENTER

Students Make Tour of Stock Exchange, Reserve Bank, and Clearing House

Headed by Professor Foran, twenty-five members and guests of the Economics Association made their annual tour of San Francisco's financial center last Wednesday.

Starting at the Stock Exchange, the students were first given a lengthy explanation of the organization, functions, and governing method of the trade center by Mr. Burrel, a member of the Exchange. Following this, the students were allowed to view the actual buying and selling.

Shortly before noon the group visited the clearing house, where Mr. Colburn, who was one of the gold miners in the early days, explained the clearing. Both he and his assistant, Mr. Burns, have been with the clearing house for nearly forty years.

The trip was concluded with an afternoon tour of the Federal Reserve Bank under the guidance of Mr. Morrison. It was here that the party was allowed to wander through corridors containing millions of dollars of gold and silver. Such leeway was allowed due to the unique guarding system which is carried on with the aid of a set of mirrors.

Students making the trip were: John John Soares, Carl Chuck, William Tipton, John Green, Elias Welch, John Valentini, Jack Fissori, John Franey, Brother Alban, Brother Gil-many of whom have been, or still are, famous in major or minor league baseball.

According to Guisto, the committee has arranged to give all present smokes and refreshments.

Commenting on the attendance at the rally, Guisto said: "We want all baseball fans to attend this rally and we are particularly anxious that we have a big turnout of students for the rally as it is just a few days before the opening of the intercollegiate season."

The final meeting of the committee in charge was held in the offices of Sheriff Fitzgerald last evening. The members of this committee are: Guisto, Fitzgerald, T. Anselm Duffy '91, John Brady '06, Eddie Hallinan '07, Eddie Burns '07, Harry Hooper '07, Joe Oeschger '16, Judge Frank Dunn '08, Jim Roberts '25, and Jim Kane '34.

Closing Gap Between Campus and Metropolis

Heavier cranes are now being installed here to carry on the work of erecting six small and one huge cantilever spans which will bring the bridge to Yerba Buena. The structure seen beyond the present completed work is the Key System terminal.

On the island proper can be seen more steel construction. This is the portion of the bridge which emerges from the tunnel and crosses the naval parade ground.

Beyond Yerba Buena island arises three of the completed suspension towers and the central anchorage. The fourth tower will be finished shortly. Already arrangements have been made to beginning the cable spinning between the San Francisco shore and the central anchorage.

On the transbay side approach work is going ahead on schedule

Brother Leo Lectures Continue During Week

With a lecture on "Cressida of Troy," which will be given on Monday evening, February 11, at 1337 Sutter Street in San Francisco, Brother Leo will open a series of three lectures on historical topics. The dates of the remaining lectures have not as yet been announced.

At the San Francisco College for Women, Brother Leo will lecture on "Dante" Saturday evening, February 9.

At the Extension Division of the University of California, he will continue his series of lectures by speaking on "Hamlet" Friday evening, February 8, and on the following Wednesday he has chosen the topic of "Shakespeare and Modern Life." The week's activity will conclude by a continuation of the lecture on "Hamlet" which will be given next Friday evening in the Extension Division series.

FROSH HOP

val since the last Saint Mary's dance, the freshmen feel that this dance will be a huge success and that it will give them a fine start for their collegiate career.

Committeemen for the informal, which is to start at 8.30 p. m., are Joseph Alioto, chairman, assisted by Lyons, Mana and Madden. They announce that bids will be on sale at the entrance for those who may wish to obtain them and will be priced at one dollar.

Since this is their first social affair, the freshmen class is depending on the cooperation of the entire student body in order to make this dance a success.

Members of the Student Affairs Committee, which has almost unlimited disciplinary power over students, will be present to supervise this first freshman dance.

In making the arrangement the frosh were assisted by Miss Rose Adele Gianella, president of the Holy Names student body, and Miss Ann Louise Powell.

LOCAL TEAM FIRST TO VANQUISH SAN QUENTIN DEBATERS

Prisoners Bow To Undergraduates First Time in Debating Experience

"At last the king has fallen!"

Such was the cry Sunday when a squad of local debaters emerged triumphant from the walls of the state prison at San Quentin after one of the usual hotly contested discussions held at the Marin institution. Since forensic relationships with outside teams were established at the prison three years ago, the inmates have been succesful in turning back all undergraduate collegiate opposition.

Initial Victory

Thus Saint Mary's victory was the initial bona fide one scored against San Quentin by a college squad. One local university team had defeated the prison orators previously by using graduate speakers.

Arthur Mott, Joseph Alioto and Noel Sherry represented the winners. In advancing the negative arguments of "Resolved: That the soldiers' bonus should be paid immediately," they contended that payment now would be an unfair burden on the government, and furthermore that only a selfish lobby is forcing the question at this time.

The transbay speakers were Dryden, Eytinge and Ball. Reverend J. C. Miller, a minister of the Christian Church, Mr. Gregory Jones, farm bureau manager, and Mr. Morse Erskine, a San Francisco attorney, were the judges.

Definite Advance Show

Thomas Twomey, debate manager, who arranged the contests between the groups three years ago, stated that the local forensic society has proven definitely that it has moved into the front ranks of college debating activities by defeating the experienced San Quentin team.

Another debate was held early in the week. Noel Sherry and Thomas Paddock dropped a 14-11 audience decision to the University of San Francisco on Monday evening on the latter's campus. Their opponents, Richard Roberts and Edward Heavey, were defending the affirmative case of the international armament shipment proposition.

SENIOR SKETCH

Nathan Hale, grand patriot of American liberty, wanted to say something that sounded nice before British guns snuffed out his life, so he gave to posterity his celebrated "One Regret."

Edward Ryan, senior student, also has one regret to register before the scythe of graduation cuts him off from undergraduate life, and that regret rings true. "I regret that Saint Mary's College does not have a well-developed activity of large-scale dramatics."

Many Agree

Of course, there are so many of us who agree with Ed on that score, because dramatics is highly notable at Saint Mary's only because of its striking absence.

At any rate, Edward Ryan, as might be well known, is a first-class thespian. It's sort of an open secret that at Sacramento J. C. he was "the star of the footlights." As a matter of fact his excellent acting not only merited high praise from the school journal, but on various occasions his stellar portrayals attracted the attention of the drama editor of a prominent Sacramento metropolitan daily.

Moraga Poet

Ryan's talents are not restricted to the theatrical realm, but extend to other fields and make him one of the most versatile men on the campus.

As a poet, he is without peer in the student body. Ed is a prominent member of the Moraga Society of Catholic Poets, and in that society's annual publication of its "Anthology," four of his poems were accepted.

Various campus organizations command quite a bit of Ed's time. Besides being president of the active Art Club, he is an outstanding member of the Student Players, Spanish Club, and Moraga Society of Catholic Poets, as well as the Spanish Honor Society of U.C., Sigma Delta Pi.

Arts and Letters

Enrolled in the Arts and Letters curriculum, Ryan is carrying the split-major of Spanish and economics. His thesis will be a translation of Martinez Sierra, Spanish dramatist.

Yes, it is too bad that we haven't any dramatics at Saint Mary's and that, as a result, so many men with talent like Ryan's have to be wasted.

Child Labor Amendment Argued By Debaters

Parliament Debating Society of the University of California, represented by Virginia Kennedy and Virginia Hoesel, exchanged arguments Tuesday evening with Richard Vail and Rodney Stetson on "Resolved: That the federal child labor law should be adopted."

The discussion was held in the Memorial room of Stephens Union. Parliament presented the affirmative side. This team will be met again later in the semester on this campus.

NOW THEY'RE OUT IN THE COLD

Just because the co-eds at Duke complained of the table manners of student waiters, some of whom are football players, a boycott has been issued, forbidding any of the members of the team from speaking or dancing with the censuring girls.

"Barred" Forensics

Saint Mary's debating team takes the honor this week of becoming the first undergraduate team to defeat the San Quentin squad. Hitherto no team of college grade could get over the stumbling block—an obstacle over which Pacific Coast intercollegiate debaters could not hurdle, no matter what finished team invaded the prison. The Stanford graduate debating society was the only one to defeat the inmates, and this society was of university and not college standing.

To quote the Los Angeles Junior Collegian: "Though the inmates of San Quentin became such by losing arguments with police, sheriffs, district attorneys, juries and judges, they can hold their own when they meet debating teams composed of college students, professors, bankers and business men of the state."

Up to their defeat last Sunday, the San Quentin team won 11 out of 14 debates in which they were engaged. And their opposition was strong as the list of opponents—University of California, Stanford University, Saint Mary's College and Marin County chapter of the American Institute of Banking—will disclose.

To the Saint Mary's team, to the debate coach and to the team manager, then, goes the satisfaction of meeting and vanquishing a formidable rival.

These collegian-inmate debates have become a commendable tradition. Besides serving as a source of thought and entertainment for the San Quentin audience and team, this prison training is more than likely to enable them to be perhaps better fitted to meet the problems of the economic and social worlds in which they will some time take up their places again.

No, contrary to popular opinion, The Collegian does not own any bonds in the Bay Bridge and the Low-level tunnel.

Freedom vs. Freedom

Of the San Francisco papers, the Catholic Leader is the only one that has passed fair and just judgment on the Dean Jennings case, a test case between the publishers and the American Newspaper Guild which evolves the right of the publishing business to discharge "gentlemen of the press" who band together in a protective body.

Craftily the publishers have fought the organization of its employes by a clever smoke screen of blatant propaganda, confused issues, distorted facts, and have led the reading public to believe that this is a fight to the finish for "Freedom of the press."

Says The Leader: "The so-called 'Freedom of the Press' is not at issue in the Guild fight, neither is it at issue in the enforcement of the Newspaper Code. The publishers of the nation seek to make an issue of it, however, because collectively, they would like nothing better than to repudiate the code, and thus to escape its restrictions and obligations."

"Openly, it is a fight to protect the 'Freedom of the Press,' while behind the scenes, in publishers' offices, in the huddles with their attorneys, it is a fight to the death against the Guild, against those who would separate them from any more money in real wages, or to curb their editorial control in any way."

On the other hand, the Guild is fighting for the same principles for which the cause of labor has stood for generations. That evils exist in the city rooms of large dailies goes without question. The fact that ten thousand newspaper workers joined the American Newspaper Guild in the first year of its existence, shows the widespread sentiment which exists in the rank and file of the editorial workers of the nation.

"Freedom of the Press" then, is not at issue, but fair treatment of the "Gentlemen of the Press" is.

"Via Media"

Truthful, straightforward language is always relished by thinking people, but such words are too often rare. As a consequence when we note desirable thought, we are doubly pleased.

An example of this type of reasoning was given during the week by Edward Lambe Parsons, the Episcopal bishop of San Francisco. The prelate, while addressing an annual convention of his fellow-churchmen, pointed out in clear language the growth of "the insidious and increasing effect of absolutism in our political and social structure."

Like Bishop Parsons, this paper has on the one hand attacked Communism, and on the other reprimanded the bone-crushing activities against the unscrupulous Russian experiment which has been recommended by certain press and club groups, for ultimately the fundamental Christian principles can alone endure to aid the common welfare.

From the bishop's protest, the value of scholastic philosophy's "via media" can be vividly seen. Following an intelligent study of fallacies contained in extremist doctrines, a true solution of national and world problems can be better attained by adopting a middle course of action.

It is comforting to realize that some minds hold to this satisfactory system of thought and as long as their force is evident, we may be assured that radical and reactionary movements will be curbed. Bishop Parsons has done an eminently praiseworthy service for the community in thus steadying popular thought.

The present 2½ per cent sales tax has an affirmative and a negative case, but the most daring debater will refuse to argue for the proposed increase to 3 per cent as has been suggested by Governor S. . S. (Save Our State) Merriam.

Help Now

Following more than a semester of painstaking argument, the staff of the 1935 Gael has at last been assured that the year book may be published. These efforts, fortified by the definite backing of the Junior class which showed admirable spirit in offering to underwrite the book by "mortgaging" their sheepskins, saved the annual souvenir.

On the whole the student body does not realize how close the purpose of the third year man came to defeat. Debts incurred by previous year book staffs, despite even such systematic labors as was evidenced by last year's group, have fallen too heavily on the college treasury, and consequently caused the faculty to move slowly before they finally sanctioned the 1935 Gael.

Difficult labors and tantalizing trials must be faced in the short time allotted to the Junior class before the book is published. It is the duty of every Saint Mary's man to shoulder this burden by doing his bit in order that the Gael may appear on time.

A real appreciation for saving the annual thus can be manifested by the student body. The first opportunity will be offered Monday when the individual photographic work commences.

COLLEGIATE OPINION

Herein is printed weekly the best in university thought.

The Evolution of a College Student

Among the many stupendous changes taking place in the world today, is the evolving of a new type of college student. If one will open his eyes and observe, he will note that he is being permitted to witness an upheaval in the development of the younger generation.

The war era and its succeeding, approximate fifteen-year period brought to us a swift, giddy, and thoughtless group of people. The college student is not different or worse than the rest of the population but gives you an emphasized view of the trends of the day. As usual the college men and women have done their part to impress upon us the foolishness and unsteadiness of the post-war period.

However, anyone who has been thrown with the college group for the past three years has noted a change. The "rah-rah" boys is already "old stuff." It has long been unfashionable at the better schools to engage in the unreasonable type of football rallies. The bearcat run-about and the coon-skin overcoat are alike in abeyance. Cheer leaders still hold forth at the big games but mostly for the delectation of the alumni in search of their youth. Most striking and amazing of all is that the undergraduate is beginning to admire mere scholarship!

The day of the "polite moron" seems distinctly past. Time was when the impeccable frame of this personage loomed large upon the campus horizon. Mere grinds, book-crackers, and scholars were dirt before his elegance. He trod the campus amid the jingle of many watch-chain keys, the aimless flop of the 20-inch bell bottoms, and the aroma of gin, perfume and ignorance. But his day is definitely doomed on the campus.

By BROTHER LEO

THE ONE THING NECESSARY

Brother Leo

Some students miss their opportunities and squander their time, form impeding habits and fail to see the Holy Grail because they do not resolutely and definitely put first things first. They don't mean business. They have too little concentration and too much "scattertation." They have too many irons in the fire. They are too much taken up with the trimmings and excrescences of campus life, not sufficiently devoted to the things of the mind. They call themselves students; but study is not their main concern.

To such loiterers in the grove of Academe sage counsel is given by one of the characters in Willa Cather's "Shadows on the Rock." On page 149 we read these words:

"Listen, my friends. No man can give himself heart and soul to one thing while in the back of his mind he cherishes a desire, a secret hope, for something very different. You, as a student, must know that even in worldly affairs nothing worth while is accomplished except by that last sacrifice, the giving of one's self altogether and finally. Since I made that final sacrifice, I have been twice the man I was before."

WORTH JUST A DOLLAR

Some time ago a London lecturer, Dr. F. E. Lawson, gave an interesting chemical analysis of the human body. Reduced to its component elements, the physical makeup of the average man would fetch about one dollar in open market. From this point of view Plato, St. Thomas Aquinas, Mussolini and Einstein have no higher value than Sparticus the Gladiator, Atilla the Hun, Max Baer and One-eyed Connolly.

The body of the average man is composed of enough water to fill a ten gallon barrel. Inside his skin he has enough fat to make seven cakes of soap—unscented. If we were put to it, we could secure enough carbon from one human body to make 9,000 lead pencils.

There is iron in our makeup, too; enough of it to equal a medium sized nail. Of lime we have sufficient to whitewash a small chicken - coop. Whether we are fish eaters or not, there is enough phosphorous in our physical composition to supply the heads of 2000 matches; enough magnesium for one dose of salts and enough sulphur to rid one dog of fleas.

That is where we stand in the matter of quantity. It is the quality of our mind, our soul, our character that makes the body significant and rich.

A PRICELESS HABIT

More and more Saint Mary's students are coming to realize the importance of cultural reading. How do we know? Because members of the faculty are receiving more and more requests to suggest significant books. Such requests come mostly from Lower Division men, not because Juniors and Seniors are indifferent to good reading, but because Upper Division students are usually able to make their way without specific assistance and know how to follow up the bibliographical aids given them so copiously in connection with courses in literature, religion, philosophy, history and the like.

Several students last semester arranged their reading in harmony with a carefully formulated plan. They listed a number of books of recognized importance and then made—and kept—the resolution to read all those books by Christmas. One or two of them tried to cover too much territory but all of them express satisfaction with their self-devised program.

For such a program it is wise to utilize books that have been tested by time. College years afford an excellent opportunity to make acquaintance at first hand with the best that has been known and thought in the world.

Even an hour or two each day devoted to such reading is of immeasurable benefit. It imparts useful knowledge; it broadens and varies both the reading and the writing vocabulary of the student; it gives him material for what the late William Winter called "ennobling recollections"; it elevates and purifies his standards of taste, and—possibly most important of all—it exerts a subtle though unmistakable effect on his character.

Just by way of no harm, as they say in Ireland, I purpose to comment now and then in this department on certain books of universal literature well worth the reading, books that are indeed indispensable for the educated man to know.

Campus Comment

February 6th, 1935.

Editor:

May I take this opportunity on behalf of the entire student body to congratulate Coach Vince McNally and his Gaels on their success in winning the California series and in defeating San Francisco University.

Regardless of what the remainder of the season may hold in store, Coach McNally and his hoopsters have definitely raised Gael basketball to the position it deserves. In overcoming tremendous odds to make the season a success, the team has demonstrated that there is still such a thing as the Saint Mary's spirit.

Moraga Musings

For the last couple of weeks the Muser has lost his personality completely. The boys who are moving into the editorial positions next month are trying to ease the ol' smoothie out of the picture by writing his column, but too many personalities have been evidenced in this column so the Knowing One again takes over the typewriter rights and will continue in his inimitable style for the next five editions.

COLLEGIANA

By Cornelio Baca

HE MUST BE GOOD!

In a fit of modesty, a local baseball player was heard to exclaim: "Was I fast? Lissen, guy, when I played for Whoosis, every time I hit one of many home runs, I reached first base before the spectators could hear the crack of the bat. Then, when I rounded second, the second baseman usually said something that made me sore, so I slapped the third baseman in the catcher's mouth. We only had one ball, so I had to run out of the ball park and catch my own fly."

BLIND DATE

Life has its little problems and its big ones; we all have to cope with them at one time or another, and more often than not the big ones happen to be big, husky blind dates. From Chico State comes the following:

First Frosh—"I heard you didn't have a good time with your blind date last night. Was she too thin?"

Second Nut—"Naw, just the opposite. I couldn't entertain her from one side, so I went to the other, and there was a senior having as good a time as I was."

GENEROSITY?

The State Teachers College of Virginia awarded Philip Wart, negro head cook, a degree in recognition of his fifty years of service in that institution—which goes to prove that there is no justice; hundreds of fellows every year get degrees and all they have to do is to merely eat for four years.

COINCIDENCE

Al and Art Guepe, identical twins on the Marquette University football team, make identical grades in the classroom. In the first semester last year, the two boys, taking the very same scbjects, each scored five A's, one B and one C to lead Marquette's athletes in scholastic ranking.

COEDS CHECKED

Coed hitch-hiking became so common at the University of Georgia that it was found necessary to prohibit the practice after 6 p.m. A move was therefore begun to obtain free transportation for the subdued coeds.

TURNING THE TABLES

A professor at the University of Minnesota, who advocates prompt attendance at his classes to the extent of locking the door after the last bell has rung, found the tables turned not so long ago. Arriving a minute late for class, he found the door to his lecture room locked from the inside. The class had assembled, waited until the last bell had rung, locked the door, waited the required ten minutes, and walked out the back door.

MAYBE A PENSION NEXT

College flunkers need not despair; pensions may yet be given them, anyway, at Missouri University, students may now take out an insurance policy against flunking. If the student fails, the company gives him enough to pay for a summer course. While the rates have not been disclosed, it is estimated that at Ohio State alone, $175,000 and $200,000 have been spent for this type of insurance.

CULLINGS

Harvard University owns enough football equipment to outfit 6,000 players . . . there are over four hundred bicycles at Smith College, Northampton, so that the school has to have traffic rules . . . a frat at the University of Alabama is Flunk Damit Flunk . . . at Berlin University students are given six weeks in which they may analyze and select their profs . . . at Dennison, the students with the cars make the higher grades . . . here they do, too—the higher type of dames? . . . co-eds at the University of Missouri, who have signed a pledge not to eat more than fifteen cents worth while out on a date, are finding themselves very popular . . . at State Teachers College of Trenton, New Jersey, a club open only to bowlegged men has been organized . . . the name is the Parenthesis Club.
